

What Would Barbie Do?

Barbie's Guide to Happily-Ever-After

Are you planning a wedding and a honeymoon?
Do you want it to be super special?
Do you sometimes wish you were just like Barbie?

Let's take a look at what Barbie would do as she goes from perfect dating to perfect engagement to perfect marriage.

First of all, Barbie would have best boyfriend ever (Ken!)
And she would date him for a long time.

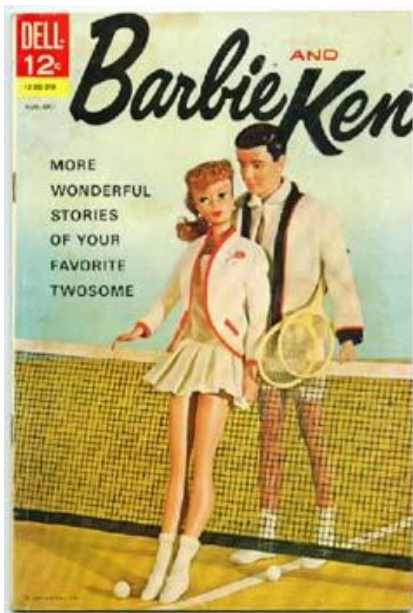

They would have a wonderful time together and do lots of fun things.

They would drive around in cool cars.

They would play sports like tennis and go skiing, with their best new clothes and accessories.

The would keep in shape at the most stylish gym.

And have many fun times at the beach.

They would travel a lot and take vacations in exotic places.

Hawaii

Japan

Bavaria

Iraq

A Barbie and Ken doll set dressed in Disney Weekend attire. Ken is wearing a white t-shirt with Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck, a blue belt, and white pants with a colorful pattern. Barbie is wearing a red t-shirt with Mickey Mouse and floral patterns, a blue skirt with a colorful pattern, and a blue belt. The background is a pink and white striped pattern. The text "EXCLUSIVE" is in the top left corner. The text "Disney Weekend" is in the bottom left corner. The text "Barbie & Ken" is in the bottom right corner. A Mickey Mouse head silhouette is in the bottom right corner.

A man and a woman dressed in Star Trek uniforms. The man is wearing a yellow Starfleet uniform with a black collar and a black arrowhead insignia. He is holding a black object in his right hand. The woman is wearing a red Starfleet uniform with a black collar and a red arrowhead insignia. She is wearing a black crossbody bag and black boots. They are standing behind a red rope barrier.

A detailed pink Barbie cruise ship toy. It features multiple decks with railings, a swimming pool on the upper deck, and a slide. The ship is decorated with a blue and white wave pattern on the side and a small flag at the stern. The name 'Barbie' is visible on the side.

And there would be lots of dancing and fabulous nights on the town!!

Who wouldn't want to be like Barbie!!

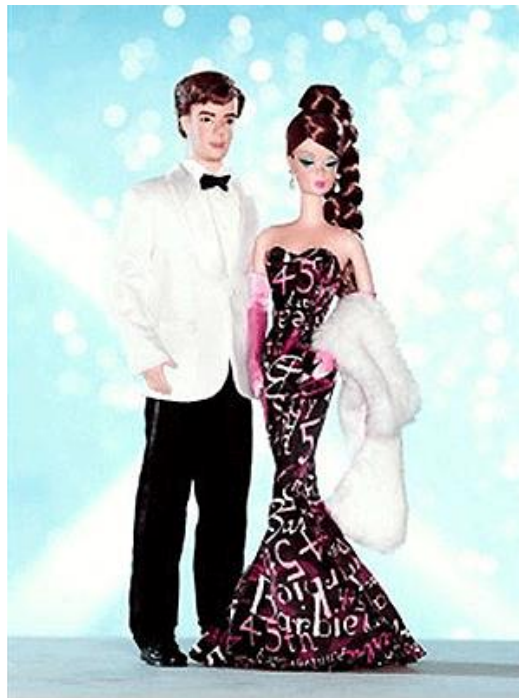

Dinner and cocktails would be a problem. They really can't eat or drink. It helps them stay slim, but this should be our first WARNING.

Ken would lavish Barbie with lots of swell Mattell gifts.

And, of course, after such an enviable dating relationship, Barbie and Ken would get engaged...in the special attire they got just for this event.

Who wouldn't want to be like Barbie!!

And they would throw fun parties so all their friends could meet

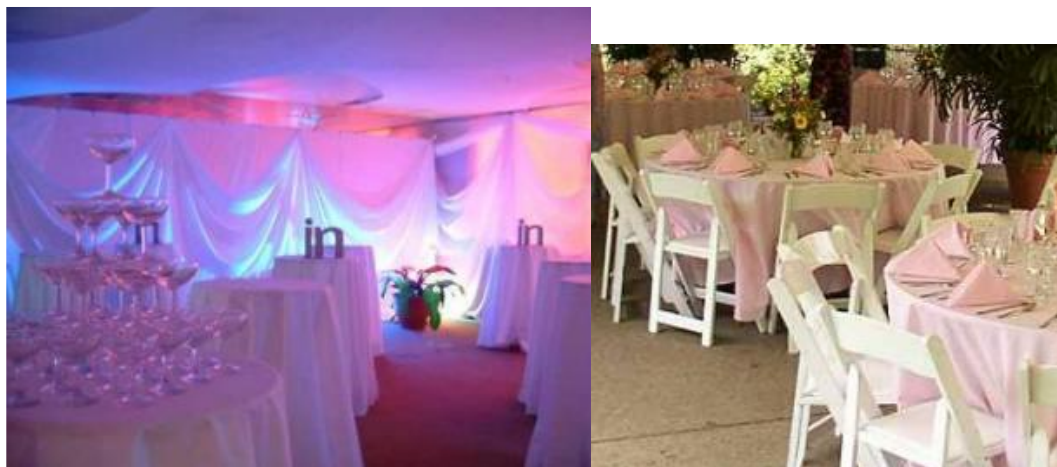

...and get to see their Barbie+Ken combined dream house.

And they would plan a fairy tale wedding for all their friends and fans.

It would be all pink and purple and magical. Sigh.

And they would have cute little favors for all their guests, like tiny Barbie and Ken statues, key chains and coloring books.

And it would be absolutely WONDERFUL...except for the food and the wedding toast. There's that problem again!

But Barbie wouldn't let this bother her. Her life is so perfect in every other way. Barbie wouldn't be a complainer.

She and Ken would fly off for their Hollywood-style honeymoon...

...probably to a luxury hotel at a beach resort.

Who wouldn't want to be like Barbie!!

But then as their first night together approached, maybe they would get a little nervous. Maybe Ken would try to get a little drunk (without luck) while Barbie freshened up. They might even take a bath together to get in the mood.

And then when they finally arrive at that one very special moment that they have waited for all these years, that they have dreamed about and saved themselves for, what would Barbie do?

Well, try as they might Barbie and Ken wouldn't be able to do much.

It would be worse than not being able to eat or drink!

How frustrating!

Poor Barbie and Ken! They have all those custom-made clothes and friends, and all those cool lifestyle accessories, but they don't have the right equipment. In fact, there is not one orifice between them.

And their whole family is like that, poor plastic things.

Now truthfully, aren't YOU glad you're NOT like Barbie!!